Willow Class Ancient Greek Day

On Monday 24th June, Willow class dressed up and hosted a whole day of 'Hands on History' with their Federation counterparts! In mixed school groups, the children rotated around three brilliant activities which gave them the opportunity to show off what they already knew, and build on their understanding of how the Ancient Greeks lived.

It's safe to say that the shield and sword activity outside was a firm favourite - although not so much for the adults who got chased around by an angry mob of Spartan warriors! The children also got the chance to see some artefacts up close and thought carefully about what they were used for. The final activity involved comparing Greek and Roman gods and goddesses and trying out some Ancient Greek writing. They also spent some time learning about life at home and the Ancient Greek's rather 'original' approach to medicine! It was so lovely to have all three schools together with the staff and parent helpers sometimes finding it difficult to know which child was from which school as they all mixed together so well! A huge thank you to our parent helpers and to all the parents for their efforts in the costumes; the children looked so fantastic and it really added to our day!

10 REASONS WHY IT'S OKAY TO FEEL SAD

 @BELIEVEPHQ

Because it is okay to feel sad at times

Because feeling emotions can make you stronger

Because you can use your emotions to assess how you feel

Because no one should be ashamed to talk about their feelings

Because you are helping yourself by experiencing emotions

Because it is not always possible to be the best possible version of ourselves

Because we should not be afraid to admit that we are struggling

Because not feeling okay is one step closer to feeling better

Because you will help others realise that it is okay to be honest about how they feel

Because not feeling okay is not a sign of weakness
