“Achievement for All, Learning Together, Learning for Life”

Dear Chiddingly families,

Today marks the last day of online learning! Most children we have spoken to throughout the week are really excited to get back to school, but there are some who are, quite naturally, a little bit anxious and nervous. This is completely understandable given the length of time a lot of children have spent away from school. I want to take this opportunity to reassure you that we are here to support your children (and parents) if you need it. Please do get in touch with the school if you have any concerns or queries about the return on Monday.

That being said, we cannot even begin to tell you how excited we are to have everyone back on Monday. All the staff here at Chiddingly have been working really hard to get the classrooms and learning areas ready. We are really looking forward to seeing our classrooms full again with those happy smiling faces.

A lot of information has been sent to you over the last week regarding re-opening. Please take the time to read all the letters and information sent to you via ParentMail, as it is really important that you are aware of any changes or differences to school life once we return on Monday.

We hope you all have a lovely, restful weekend, before the school run rush begins again on Monday. From everyone at Chiddingly, we can't wait to see you all soon!

Mrs Vile

Willow

Willow Class have started the fantastic new topic of Amazon Adventures! We read the story 'The Great Kapok Tree' and learnt all about the amazon rainforest, who and what lives in it and how they rely on it to survive. We looked at both sides of the argument around deforestation and then the children wrote letters explaining their thoughts on the subject. In geography, we investigated different types of settlements and the children did some brilliant research on local hamlets, villages, towns and cities!

Dear Sir or Madam,

I write to talk about my concern with deforestation. Taking away the rainforest is very concerning to me.

Removing the trees will destroy so many animals lives, rainforest trees are home to so many animals. Animals need one another to survive so there won't be any animals left in the rainforest. Animals even provide food for humans. Unless you stop chopping down the tree's the animals will become extinct.

What will happen to the climate change? We need the rainforest as the trees produce oxygen which helps us to breathe. The climate will be affected.

Rainforests provide homes and natural resources for so many people. People rely on the rain forest for food, water and shelter. Where would these people live? What would they eat? Please think of these people.

Please think about my arguments towards deforestation. The rainforest is so important to us.

Dear readers please don't chop down this kapok tree you have no idea what will happen. Animals home and food will be chopped down.

Chopping down the trees means there will be less oxygen. You have got to remember to think first before you actually do it. I know i am a kid but it is very important about

ESCC News

The Local Authority have prepared guidance documents for families of children who have SEND and for foster carers & staff working in residential children's homes, reassuring them of the steps schools and colleges are taking to ensure pupils' return to school is as successful as possible.

There are also some parenting courses they are running alongside the NHS and other organisations. Please see below for these courses.

With many children returning to school from 9th March 2021 we can expect a few teething issues. Changes in routine are one of the key triggers to problem behaviour - join one of our online webinars to learn skills to make this new start as successful as possible.

ONLINE PARENTING SUPPORT

Getting your Child into Bed (and staying there for the night!) (2-8)

Successful bedtime routines may have been tricky during lockdown, but sleep is VERY important to both children and parents. It ensures that the child can learn and grow. This session includes information around parent traps, re-establishing bedtime routines and managing problem behaviour.

Thursday 4th March 6:30-8:30pm Monday 15th March 10-12pm

Dealing with Disobedience (2-8)

All children misbehave at times and we all face those moments when children will not do as they are told. This very popular session helps parents to teach their children limits, do as they are told and understand the meaning of the word No.

Friday 5th March 12-2pm Friday 12th March 12-2pm
Tuesday 23rd March 12-2pm

Managing Fighting and Aggression (2-8)

When children fight there is a risk that somebody could get hurt so teaching your children clear limits and boundaries is important. This session will show you how to encourage your children to play well together, problem solve and solve arguments without parents always needing to be involved.

Tuesday 9th March 6:30-8:30pm Thursday 25th March 12-2pm

Challenging Behaviour in Public (Hassle Free Shopping) (2-8)

Positive parenting strategies are discussed as step by-step suggestions for preventing problems and teaching children how to behave when out and about. Parents develop personalised plans to manage problem behaviour and are encouraged to use them in potentially difficult community situations.

Tuesday 16th March 6:30-8:30pm

E-SAFETY (2-10)

Children are learning more and more about the internet at a young age with 55% 3-4 year olds having access to tablets and the internet. With these rising figures, children are increasingly vulnerable to online dangers. This session will teach you how to talk to your child about E-Safety, screen time and gives lots of useful tips and tricks on how to keep them safe online.

Thursday 18th March 6:30-8:30pm
